Profiles in Diversity Journal Announces its Black Leadership Award Winners for 2023

Recognizing the Achievements of Black Leaders at Work, in the Marketplace, and in Communities across the Globe

[CLEVELAND, OH–October 30, 2023] Profiles in Diversity Journal® is pleased to announce the names of the 45 winners of this year's Black Leadership Award. This year's winners are powerhouses in their fields of law, business, technology, sports and more. They are also dedicated to service and can be found mentoring young female track stars, guiding new lawyers and even advising President Joe Biden on choosing the first black female U.S. Supreme Court justice, Ketanji Brown Jackson.

"The excellent leaders featured in PDJ's 2023 fourth-quarter issue are leaders and teachers with a passion for guiding, mentoring and advocating for their professions, communities and the next generation of professionals," says Profiles in Diversity Journal publisher James Rector. "We are proud to honor them and to recognize the organizations that support their success."

The Black Leadership Award recipients who will appear in PDJ's Q4 issue will share their stories and valuable insights through illuminating essays that will discuss their personal and professional successes. Life for them hasn't been "a crystal stair," as the famous African American writer Langston Hughes once wrote, but many have climbed to the top of their professions, nevertheless.

We are also shining the light on organizations that nominate candidates for the Award and demonstrate C-suite support of people of color in leadership. Inclusion of the Award winners in this magazine enhances the reputations of these organizations that employ, support and empower these high achievers. The 2023 Black Leadership Award edition of Profiles in Diversity Journal will be available online at www.diversityjournal.com in late December.

Following are the names and job titles of this year's award recipients, along with the names of the organizations that nominated them for this honor.
